

Derbyshire & Nottinghamshire Entomological Society

AN INVITATION TO JOIN THE SOCIETY

Registered Charity Number 519240

Anyone interested in the study of insects, beginner or expert is welcome to join the Derbyshire & Nottinghamshire Entomological Society. The Society was formed in 1914 to promote and further interest in General Entomology and the study of all Land Arthropods, especially with regard to species in Derbyshire, Nottinghamshire and adjacent counties. The formation of the Society led to the systematic collection of insect records from 1916 onwards. Currently, the Society participates in national recording schemes, and endeavours to identify those local insect species whose numbers have declined to the point at which their existence is threatened - and in so doing, enable resources to be targeted for wildlife conservation and species protection. Membership of the Society offers a number of benefits:

- Meet people with like minded interests;
- Learn more about insects and their conservation;
- Take part in our varied schedule of field meetings and moth watches (A full list of events is available on the website);
- Children and Families welcome;
- Indoor Meetings (Exhibitions and talks);
- Open, friendly access to expertise and advice on identification; and
- Receive the Society Journal and Newsletter full of news, reviews & reports.

If you would like to join the Society, please send the form below and payment (cheques payable to the Derbys & Notts Entomological Society) to Dave Budworth, 121 Wood Lane, Newhall, Swadlincote, Derbyshire, DE11 0LX.
